

Welcome! I'm so glad you're here! Please join me on my blog, Hook. If you're interested in contributing a guest post, this is a community where writers can share their angle on writing experiences, adventures, resources, idea and stories. This blog is a place to share your successes, failures, resources, ideas to 'hook' readers, tips to the trade, adventures and all-around unique writing experiences!

I post on the first Wednesday of each month. Please send me a 500-750 word post, along with any pictures to accompany your post. Also, please send an image of yourself, a 50-word bio, e-mail (optional for posting, but I need it to correspond with you), web-site link, social media handles and any books or publication links or any other information you would like me to source with your post. Please sign-up for the dates that work best for you through Sign-Up Genius on the link below the contributor guidelines on my blog site. Also, don't feel limited to just one post. Feel free to contribute multiple posts, but please keep in mind I post only one guest blog per month.

Please place your contributing post in the body of an e-mail to me, and attach the other items requested to: info@jeanpetersen.com.

Deadline: All posts are due 1 (one) week prior to your confirmed scheduled post. I'll confirm with you via your e-mail provided.

I reserve the right to edit and publish all posts. This is not a place for political, religious, or band-wagon platforms. It's meant to be fun, creative, informational and sharable to and for any reader.

I can't wait to read and share your blog post with this writing community!

Thank you!